The research-related activities leading to the award of a Doctoral Degree will take place at the William James Center for Research (WJCR), located at Ispa – Instituto Universitário (Lisbon, Portugal), which will be the host institution for the fellows. If a fellow is jointly co-supervised by a member of the WJCR located at University of Aveiro, then the research work may be partially conducted at that institution. It is also possible that the research will be conducted in collaboration with other national or international institutions.

The research activities leading to a Doctoral Degree must be framed in terms of the research and strategic plan of the WJCR and developed in one of the areas of expertise available at the Doctoral Program in Psychology of Ispa – Instituto Universitário.

The work plan may be carried out entirely at a national institution or in collaboration with an international institution (i.e. national fellowship and mixed fellowship, respectively).

As a rule, fellowships are given on an annual basis and are renewable up to the maximum number of months requested in the application. They cannot be granted for less than 3 consecutive months or for more than 48 months.

5. WORK PLAN AND SCIENTIFIC SUPERVISION OF THE FELLOWS

The WJCR is funded by the FCT and is one of the top 5 Portuguese R&D Centers in Psychology ranked as "Excellent" in FCT's last round of evaluation of national R&D units. It brings together outstanding psychological research from the University of Aveiro (UA) and Ispa – Instituto Universitário. One of the goals of the WJCR is to become a European center of excellence for research and training in communication and sociality; cognitive, affective, and developmental processes; and translational Psychology. The research developed by the Center focuses on 4 interrelated clusters: cognition, health, social cognition/body odors, and social development.

Applicants must be strongly motivated to develop their work plan under the scientific supervision of one of the senior researchers of the WJCR, in one of the Center's main research clusters. Although the WJCR is composed of two collaborating institutions, principal scientific supervisors for fellowships will be from Ispa – Instituto Universitário. Nevertheless, WJCR members from the University of Aveiro are available for jointly supervised projects with Ispa supervisors. For more information about the Center's research lines and senior researchers as potential supervisors, please check the website www.williamjamescr.org.

6. EVALUATION CRITERIA

The evaluation is based on the applicant's merit, motivation and the adequacy of their training to the research objectives of the WJCR.

The evaluation process consists of two successive stages, driven by the following evaluation criteria:

Stage 1 (S1):

The first stage, scored from 0 to 20 points and rounded to decimals, will focus on Curriculum Analysis (CA) and Motivation (M) for the completion of the Doctorate. The Curriculum Analysis and the Motivation will each have a weight of 60% and 40%, respectively, in the final classification of the first stage of the competition, which is expressed by the following formula:

$$S1 = (0,6 \times CA) + (0,4 \times M)$$

The Curriculum Analysis (CA) - scored from 0 to 20 values and rounded to decimals - has a weighting of 60% in the final classification of the first stage of this call and will focus on:

- Subcriterion CA1 - Quality of the academic career, expressed by the final classification of the bachelor and master's degree, with a weight of 50%.
- Subcriterion CA2 - Scientific production and participation in research projects, with a weight of 40%;
- Subcriterion CA3 – Work experience and other relevant activities, with a weight of 10%.

The Motivation (M) for this Doctorate, sustained by the description of the idea and interest to investigate a specific topic with relevance in Psychological Research and the necessary soft skills and training, expressed in the "letter of motivation" - scored from 0 to 20 points and presented to the decimals - has a weight of 40% in the final classification of the first stage of the call.

The first six (6) candidates with the highest final score of S1 and equal to 10 or more points will be admitted to the second stage (S2) and ranked in descending order of score – “Interview Admitted”. All applicants tied in the 6th position of S1 will be admitted to the second stage.

Candidates who score less than ten (10) points in the first stage of the competition (S1) will be excluded from the call – “Excluded”.

Note for the evaluation of Subcriterion CA1 (Stage 1):

1 – The final average of Bachelor's+Master's in a pre- or post-Bologna course results from the simple arithmetic average of the final classification obtained in the 1st cycle (Bachelor's degree) and the final classification obtained in the 2nd cycle (Master's degree);

2 – In the case of Integrated Master's degree awarded by institutions that do not issue certificates with discrimination of the final classifications of 1st and 2nd cycles, the final classification indicated in the degree certificate after the completion of the cycle of studies will be considered;

3 – In the case of submission an Integrated Master's certificate and a pre-Bologna or 2nd cycle Master's degree, the final classification of the Integrated Master's will be considered;

4 – When candidates have more than one equivalent Bachelor's and/or Master's degree (equivalent number of ECTS), the Evaluation Panel will decide which academic degrees are best suited for the pursuit of a Doctoral degree in Psychology and which should, therefore, be considered for Subcriterion CA1. Other course(s) presented by the candidate might be considered for Subcriterion CA3;

5 – The Evaluation Panel will award the minimum score (10 points on a 0 – 20 scale) required for obtaining a degree in Portugal when degree certificates/diplomas issued by foreign institutions are not recognized in Portugal and/or do not have the respective final classifications converted to the Portuguese evaluation scale. That is, when a declaration of honor is submitted clarifying that the recognition of the academic degrees and conversion of the final classification will be issued until the end of the application period (as well as proof that the recognition was requested).

6 – The Evaluation Panel will award the minimum score (10 points on a 0 – 20 scale) required for obtaining a degree in Portugal when submitted national certificates do not mention the final classification.

7 – The Evaluation Panel will award the minimum score (10 points on a 0 – 20 scale) required for obtaining a degree in Portugal when candidates submit a declaration of honor clarifying that he/she will complete and obtain the Master's degree until the end of the application period.

8 - For the purposes of calculating Subcriterion CA1, certificates that specify only a qualitative classification (for example, pre-Bologna Master's degrees), this classification will be converted according to Table 1 when calculating the final average (bachelor's degree + master's degree).

Table 1: Qualitative classifications conversions table.

Qualitative classification	Converted classification
Excellent Very Good with Distinction Distinction and Praise Magna Cum Laude / Summa Cum Laude	18
Very Good Approved with Distinction Good with Distinction Cum Laude	16
Good Approved/ Unanimously Approved	14
Sufficient	12

Stage 2 (S2):

The second stage (S2) (scored from 0 to 20 and presented to the decimals) consists of an individual interview of the candidate and has a weight of 100 % in this Stage of the evaluation process.

The final classification of the Individual Interview (S2) will be determined by the arithmetic average of the scores on all the criteria assessed by the members of the Evaluation Panel: S2 = Final Classification for the Individual Interview.

The Individual Interview will focus on the following criteria: previous contact with research-related environment; know-how of instruments, methodologies, and proficiency in software relevant to the research area in which the project is to be conducted; motivation; knowledge and professional attitude; interpersonal relationships and communication skills (including English language proficiency). Each of these criteria will be evaluated (from 0 to 20 values) by the Evaluation Panel members.

Applicants with a S2 final score below ten (10) points will be automatically excluded - "Excluded".

Final Classification:

In order to decide the conditional granting of the Ph.D. Fellowships, applicants will be ranked according to the weighted average of the classifications obtained for each of the two stages, expressed by the following formula:

$$\text{Final Classification} = (0,5 \times S1) + (0,5 \times S2)$$

For tiebreaking purposes, applicants will be ranked based on the classifications awarded to each of the evaluation criteria in the following order of precedence: S1 – (i) Curriculum vitae; (ii) Scientific production; (iii) Motivation letter; (iv) Work experience; S2 - Interview.

If one or more candidates do not present the appropriate and/or necessary skills and competencies required for the successful implementation of the Ph.D. fellowships, then the jury has the right not to award any fellowship. Fellowships that are not granted will be carried over to the next academic year.

Important notice for candidates with diplomas issued by foreign universities:

- Applicants with diplomas issued by foreign higher education institutions may apply and will be assessed with the same criteria as applicants with diplomas issued by Portuguese institutions, so long as they provide proof of recognition of such academic degrees and conversion of the final classification to the Portuguese classification scale, according to the applicable legislation.

- Candidates with foreign degrees who do not provide proof of equivalence between the final classification and the Portuguese classification scale will be given the minimum classification (10 points) on criterion “CA1”.

- Fellowship contracts for applicants with diplomas issued by foreign institutions will be issued only upon presentation of proof of recognition of academic degrees and conversion of the final classification until the end of the application deadline, as indicated above.
